GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

Investor M. S.

8. In May 2002, LeBlanc offered M. S. an investment opportunity in American Mortgage while at their place of employment in Salt Lake County.
9. LeBlanc told M. S. the following about the investment opportunity in American Mortgage:
 - a. That American Mortgage generated leads for mortgage loans and refinances from kiosks placed in shopping malls;
 - b. That American Mortgage had a great group of people selling the loans and the company would generate a profit;
 - c. That American Mortgage was a start-up company;
 - d. That American Mortgage's principals were LeBlanc, Fain, and Versteeg, and they had all invested their own money with the company;

- e. That American Mortgage needed investor money for operating capital to get things started;
 - f. That the kiosks placed in malls would generate mortgages, or the leads could be sold to other mortgage brokers; and
 - g. The investment was 100% guaranteed and there was no risk involved because M. S. would receive his principal plus 20%.
10. LeBlanc failed to tell M. S., among other things, that one of American Mortgage's principals, Fain, had a criminal history involving securities fraud, and that American Mortgage's corporate status had expired in 2001.
 11. LeBlanc told M. S. that American Mortgage needed M. S. to invest $14,000.
 12. M. S. told LeBlanc he had no money to invest.
 13. LeBlanc suggested M. S. take out a second mortgage on his home, and said the investment in American Mortgage would generate a monthly payment large enough to cover M. S.'s second mortgage, with a little extra left over.
 14. On May 13, 2002, LeBlanc drove M. S. to a Key Bank in Salt Lake County to arrange the second mortgage on M. S.'s home. LeBlanc remained with M. S. while the loan officer processed the second mortgage.
 15. While still at the bank, M. S. was approved for a $14,000 loan.
 16. M. S. received a cashier's check from the bank for $14,000 and gave it to LeBlanc while still at the bank.

17. LeBlanc drove M. S. from the bank to American Mortgage's offices in Murray, Utah, and introduced him to Fain and Versteeg.
18. At American Mortgage's offices, M. S. saw the investment contracts for the first time. One contract was entitled "Advance of Dividends Agreement" (Agreement 1), and the second was entitled "Pre-Determined Dividend Agreement" (Agreement 2).
19. Agreement 1 states that American Mortgage will pay M. S. an advance of dividends in the amount of $152.50 per month. It also states that payments made to M. S. pursuant to Agreement 1 will be treated as Pre-Determined Dividend payments under Agreement 2. Agreement 1 was signed by Fain, LeBlanc, Versteeg, and M. S. on May 13, 2002.
20. Agreement 2 states that M. S. will receive a return of his principal plus 20% annual interest, but provides no maturity date. Agreement 2 was signed by Fain, LeBlanc, Versteeg, and M. S. on May 14, 2002, at American Mortgage's offices.
21. During M. S.'s subsequent conversations with LeBlanc, LeBlanc pressured M. S. for names of others who might be interested in investing in American Mortgage. M. S. mentioned that his parents might be interested.
22. M. S. told his parents, L. S. and J. S., about the investment opportunity in American Mortgage.
23. On or about June 11, 2002, M. S. and his parents met with LeBlanc in San Juan County, Utah, where M. S.'s parents made their first investment. M. S.'s parents' investments are discussed in more detail below.

24. Shortly after June 11, 2002, LeBlanc approached M. S. and asked him to invest more money in American Mortgage. LeBlanc said “we gotta have this money so we don’t go under.”
25. LeBlanc suggested that M. S. increase the amount of his second mortgage at Key Bank and invest the money in American Mortgage.
26. In June 2002, M. S. arranged to have his second mortgage increased by $22,000, and of the $22,000, M. S. invested $16,000 in American Mortgage.
27. The same day, M. S. met with LeBlanc, Fain, and Versteeg at American Mortgage where they all signed a new Advance of Dividends Agreement, with the exact same terms as M. S.’s first investment for $14,000 (return of principal plus 20% annual interest with no maturity date).
28. After investing in May and June 2002, M. S. received only two dividend checks from American Mortgage, which together totaled $230.
29. When American Mortgage continued to miss monthly dividend payments, M. S. contacted LeBlanc and Versteeg. LeBlanc and Versteeg promised to pay M. S. back.
30. On December 19, 2006, M. S. received an e-mail from LeBlanc, acknowledging that he owed M. S. money and promising to pay M. S. one-third of what he invested. In the e-mail, LeBlanc tells M. S. that “by spring of ‘07 I will start a monthly repayment until my share of the debt is re-paid.”

31. M. S. has received no additional return of principal or interest on his investment in American Mortgage, and he is still owed $29,770 in principal alone.

Investors L. S. and J. S., Wife and Husband

32. In June 2002, LeBlanc offered L. S. and J. S. an investment opportunity in National Mortgage while meeting in their home in San Juan County, Utah. L. S. and J. S. met LeBlanc through their son M. S.
33. At the meeting, LeBlanc used his computer to show L. S. and J. S. several spreadsheets for American Mortgage which showed things like estimated gross revenue from “Live Contacts”, estimated gross income by “lead rate”, and estimated monthly and annual returns based upon the number of malls with an American Mortgage kiosk.
34. LeBlanc told L. S. and J. S. the following about National Mortgage:
- a. That National Mortgage planned to put kiosks in malls to gather leads for mortgage loans;
 - b. That National Mortgage planned to offer a prize drawing to anyone who filled out an interest card for a new mortgage;
 - c. That National Mortgage would follow up on the leads and process some of the loans, while others would be sold to an existing market;
 - d. That LeBlanc had no doubt he could sell the leads as “they” had done something similar in the past;

- e. That National Mortgage planned to expand its kiosk operation into Las Vegas, Nevada within two months;
 - f. That L. S. and J. S. would receive 20% annual interest on their investment, and if things went well, it would generate a monthly income;
 - g. That National Mortgage was a start-up company;
 - h. That National Mortgage's principals were LeBlanc, Fain, and Versteeg;
 - i. That National Mortgage had been raising money and had several investors including LeBlanc's parents; and
 - j. If L. S. and J. S. were unhappy with the investment after a few months, they could get their money back.
35. LeBlanc failed to tell L. S. and J. S., among other things, that one of National Mortgage's principals, Fain, had a criminal history involving securities fraud.
36. LeBlanc asked L. S. and J. S. to invest $10,000 in National Mortgage.
37. L. S. told LeBlanc that she and her husband would not invest unless it was guaranteed and had no risk.
38. LeBlanc told L. S. they would "do it her way" and guarantee their investment.
39. On June 11, 2004, L. S. and J. S. invested $10,000 in National Mortgage using money borrowed on their home equity line of credit.
40. In return for L. S.'s and J. S.'s investment, National Mortgage mailed L. S. and J. S. an investment contract entitled "Pre-Determined Dividend Agreement" (the Agreement) which stated that L. S. and J. S. would receive a return of their investment plus 20% annual interest, but provided no maturity date.

41. The Agreement was dated June 11, 2002, and appears to have been signed by Fain, LeBlanc, and Versteeg.
42. On or about November 26, 2002, L. S. received a letter from LeBlanc on American Mortgage letterhead. The letter states that American Mortgage completed 13 closings in October and 15 in November.
43. L. S. and J. S. received no return of principal or interest on their investment in National Mortgage.
44. In the Fall of 2003, L. S. met with LeBlanc and Fain at Fain's company called Real-Prints, Inc. in Salt Lake City, and asked for her money back.
45. LeBlanc and Fain told L. S. they would pay her back.
46. Fain told L. S. about his new business which promoted an inkless fingerprint product. Fain said he was going to market it to the scrap-booking industry.
47. In early October 2003, L. S. met with Fain in Salt Lake City, Utah, and complained that she had still not been paid back for her investment in National Mortgage.
48. Fain again told L. S. that they (Fain, LeBlanc, and Versteeg) would pay her back.
49. Fain then showed L. S. his inkless fingerprint product. Fain said the product could be used in child identification kits, but he needed $15,000 to buy the exclusive rights to the product.

50. Fain said his new business would generate enough money to not only pay L. S. back on her prior investment, but to pay profits on a new investment of $15,000 in Real-Prints, Inc.
51. Fain gave L. S. a spreadsheet which stated an estimated profit for Real-Prints, Inc. of over $5 million after just one year of operation.
52. As a guarantee of payment, Fain gave L. S. five post-dated checks from his Resource U.S.A., Inc. business account at Wells Fargo Bank. The checks ranged from $1,000 to $2,500. The final check was for $20,000.
53. In addition, Fain said he would give L. S. a royalty on his product if she invested.
54. On or about October 8, 2003, L. S. and J. S. met with Fain at Fain's office in Salt Lake City, and invested $15,000 in Real-Prints, Inc.
55. Fain gave L. S. and J. S. a promissory note in exchange for their investment. Fain signed the note in the presence of L. S. and J. S. and their daughter A. A.
56. The promissory note was dated October 8, 2003, in the amount of $15,000, included interest of $1,000, and a maturity date of November 1, 2003.
57. L. S. began depositing the post-dated checks into her bank account on the dates indicated on the checks, and was able to successfully deposit checks totaling $15,400.
58. L. S. deposited the last check for $20,000 on or about March 2, 2004. The check bounced on March 10, 2004 leaving L. S. with $9,600 in unpaid principal from the first investment.

59. L. S. telephoned Fain about the bounced check for $20,000. Fain said he was at the bank with an investor closing a deal when the banker asked if he wanted the investor's check to cover the bounced check for $20,000. Fain said his investor backed out.
60. Fain said the reason L. S. didn't get her money back was because she cashed the post-dated check too early. Fain said he would continue to try to pay back L. S.
61. Around the time that Fain's $20,000 check to L. S. bounced, Fain gave L. S. and J. S. two untitled agreements commemorating L. S.'s and J. S.'s investments with Fain and Real-Prints. Both agreements appear to have been signed by Fain, and both are misdated November 1, 2000.
62. The first agreement (Agreement A) acknowledges L. S.'s and J. S.'s two investments of $10,000 and $15,000 and lists payments to be made to L. S. and J. S. in each month beginning in November 2004, continuing through March 2005, totaling $29,000 with interest. Agreement A was signed by L. S. and J. S., and appears to have been signed by Fain.
63. The second agreement (Agreement B) is a revised version of Agreement A and appears to have been signed by Fain alone. Agreement B includes amounts that L. S. charged on her charge card while purchasing supplies for Fain's business.
64. Both agreements state that prior agreements are null and void and the new agreement incorporates all outstanding debt owed to L. S. and J. S. The agreements state that, in addition to paying back the debt, L. S. and J. S. will receive a royalty payment from Fain, equal to the amount they are owed ($29,000).

65. When L. S. spoke to Versteeg about paying back her principal, he said he was not obligated to L. S. because he sold his interest in National Mortgage to Fain and LeBlanc, and at the same time executed a Hold-Harmless Agreement with Fain and LeBlanc.
66. L. S. asked Versteeg for a copy of the Hold-Harmless Agreement, but he has yet to provide it.
67. L. S. and J. S. are still owed $9,600 in principal alone from their investments in National Mortgage and Real-Prints, Inc.
